Questions for Public Hearing on LUC 225 Termination

(7pm Monday May 30, 2022)

Woodhaven Boardroom, 1450 KLO Road, Kelowna.

These questions can be asked at the meeting or delivered by email (corporate.officer@rdco.com) up to 4 p.m. the day of the hearing. Suggest sending the Questions but not the background notes.

Suggested Questions About the CD-2(D) Zoning for KAS322

Q1A: What does short-term occupancy means and does it cover short term rental (including airbnb).

Background Notes

The new zoning for KAS322 is CD-2(D) which includes Chalet Housing as a permitted use. Chalet Housing is a new zoning term in the RDCO bylaws and is defined as:

Chalet Housing: means a building consisting of one or two dwelling units that provides sleeping accommodation for short-term occupancy by owners or occupiers or full-time residential occupancy.

Short-term occupancy as used in the RDCO bylaws simply means any occupancy for a period of less than one (1) month and is generally applied too motels, hotels, tourist cabins, etc., which are all rented. On that basis, and because the LUC set a precedent and there are little restrictions in the K322 bylaws, rental should be assumed. To be clear, and because the term "short-term rental" is not used in the RDCO bylaws, anyone in the airbnb business might want to know if the proposed Chalet Housing use allows short-term rental and especially airbnb in the absence of any Strata bylaw restrictions.

Other Notes on Rentals:

I understand that a business license is required to offer airbnb in many BC jurisdictions. You can see on the RDCO web site that RDCO issues business licenses for "Short term Rentals" and "B&B". I assume short term rental includes airbnb, but I don't see any RDCO licenses specific to airbnb.

Other criteria that some BC authorities have placed on short term rentals (e.g. Vancouver) are that it must be in the owners "Primary Residence" the bylaws must allow short term rentals

TO clarify matters further, Airbnb is not classed as Bed and Breakfast which is good because this CD-2(D) zoning would not allow Bed & Breakfast as that is specifically stated in the RDCO zones in which it is permitted; RU1 thru 6, R1 (single family housing) but not R2 (duplex housing).

Suggested Questions on Continuation of “Contracted Rights” Provided in the LUC

Q2: The LUC provides the strata owners with rights (access and fees etc.) that are not covered by the new zonings. Will the RDCO ensure that these LUC 225 rights remain on all the resort titles, particularly schedule “C” in LUCA 225-95-44.

Background Notes

The LUC was set up as a multi-purpose recreational community comprising accommodation units and recreational facilities of which the golf course is an “important feature”.

Implicit in the LUC was that the resort was to be occupied only by the guests and the residential occupants. With the termination of the LUC the RDCO has set up new zoning intended to duplicate the land uses in the LUC. In many respects those uses have been transferred but certain rights spelled out in “Schedule C” in LUCA 225-95-44 are not. K322 and other Stratas at the resort are concerned about the continuation of these rights. Schedule C is a “letter of Understanding” signed by the Lake Okanagan Resort in consideration of the consent of the strata owners for a modification of the LUC to allow significant development along the lake front. This large development is still recognized in the proposed new zoning for the resort.

General Question regarding other Zoning on the Resort

Q3: The LUC assumed that the Golf course would exist in perpetuity and could only be changed with the consent of all the surrounding Stratas. Can the RDCO confirm that the new CD-2(J) zoning will not be changed without the consent of all surrounding Stratas?

Good Day

I see chalet house zoning permits one or two suites. My building Chalet 16 is a Three plex with three suites. The Chalet Zoning should reflect this situation.

Respectfully
